Introduction

Institute of Strategic and International Studies (ISIS) Malaysia

Established on April 8th, 1983 as an autonomous not-for-profit organization, the Institute of Strategic and International Studies (ISIS) Malaysia was founded with the vision to contribute towards shaping sound public policy discourse, creating influential ideas and producing analysis to address challenges within the country, regionally and internationally.

Acting as the nation's leading think-tank, ISIS Malaysia initiates independent policy research projects and analyses within these parameters, as well as those requested by the public sector. It also selectively undertakes consultancy and collaborative projects with foreign institutions on matters of mutual interest.

ISIS Malaysia's research mandate therefore covers a wide area and encompasses nation building, economics, foreign policy, security studies, social policy, technology, innovation and the environment.

Papers, books and articles are published on topics within ISIS Malaysia's research mandate. The Institute also publishes ISIS Focus a monthly newsletter and ISIS News which is published twice a year. In addition, ISIS Malaysia provides commentary in the print and broadcast media.

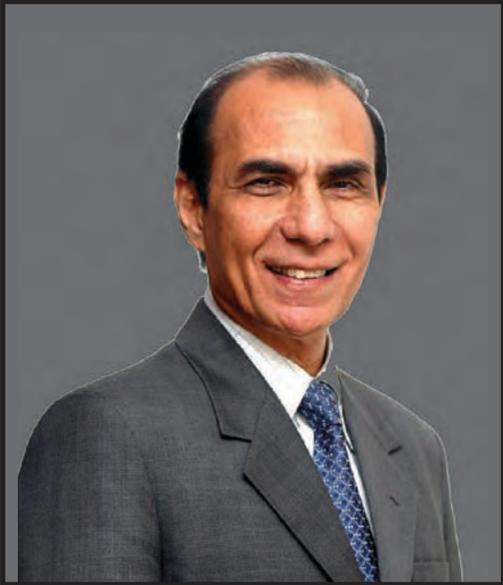

Besides its research programmes, ISIS Malaysia actively engages in 'Track Two' diplomacy by promoting high-level dialogues at national, bilateral, regional and international levels. These facilitate discussions and encourage forward thinking amongst influential policymakers, prominent thought leaders, distinguished scholars and recognized security experts. We do this through ISIS conferences and International Affairs Forums.

ISIS Malaysia also regularly receives academic delegations, diplomats, and representatives from various corporations, institutions and organizations. These visits provide a platform to discuss key issues, promote new ideas and set the agenda for international affairs within the region.
